

Five Dollars

To play a game of “Five Dollars” you will need a bat and ball. You can also use catching mitts if you wish. Everyone goes to the outfield expect the batter. The batter hits the ball from toss or batting tee. The outfield receives points as follows: One dollar for fly catch, fifty cents for one bounce catch and twenty-five cents for the one who picks up a grounder. The first person to receive five dollars in points bats next.

Fill in the names of your friends who are playing with you.

_____	is at bat.
_____	catches two fly balls, two one-bounce catches and four grounders
_____	catches three fly balls, one one-bounce catch and two grounders
_____	catches three fly balls, no one-bounce catches and four grounders
_____	catches two fly balls, four one-bounce catches and one grounder
_____	catches one fly ball, four one-bounce catches and six grounders
_____	catches one fly ball, eight one-bounce catches and no grounders
_____	catches two fly balls, three one-bounce catches and two grounders

Can you figure out who gets to bat next?